Blitzkrieg At Arlington July 4 Tops Attractions

Finance Committee Reports 3,000 Buttons Have Been Sold

Arlington Heights established a reputation for attractions, quality of entertainment and free shows at its 4th of July celebration last year that is remembered by the general public which is displaying an even greater interest in this year's event. The prize buttons are in such demand that none remain in the hands of the finance committee.

Citizens of neighboring towns are asking questions about the blitzkrieg, the boxing events and the fire works display. They are likewise asking for the buttons. Carl M. Behrens, general chairman, has made the claim that the attendance this year will double that of a year ago.

"Profiting by the experience of 1939, the 1940 prgram is better arranged," states Mr. Behrens, "and there will be something doing almost every minute of the entire day. Aside from small charge for grand stand and bleecher seats, for the ball game and boxing bouts, the entire show and program is free as the air and collections from the general spectators will be entirely voluntary. This means that a man can bring his entire family at almost no overhead cost. The only cost to children will be the refreshments that they may consume. Arlington Heights is ready to be host to 10,000 visitors July 4th and we are doing everything possible to provide a worthwhile entertainment for the entire family," continues Mr. Behrens.

A meeting of all committees was held last Thursday when final plans were checked. Approval was given to the Blitzkrieg show, which is expected to be one of the greatest attractions ever shown in northwest Cook county.

C. L. Griffith, in charge of the morning parade, reports that he has received acceptances from many of the local organizations which have agreed to participate in the parade. Incidently, here is a tip that the Herald is not supposed to publish, refreshment tickets will be handed out to paraders who appear as part of a recognized youth organization. This also applies to riders of decorated bicycles.

In answer to an oft repeated question, the swimming pool, operated by the park district, will be open all day and early evening. There will be no increase in swim fees. The pool and the tennis courts will remain under the direction of the park authorities. Attention of mothers is also called to the wading pool, for which no charge is made.

The ball game between the Red Wings and Kenosha, recognized as the leading team in the Illinois-Wisconsin semi-pro league, starts at three o'clock. The Red Wings have been playing some great baseball this year and are worthy antagonists for the crack Wisconsin boys.

During the afternoon there will be hourly awarding of prizes including cash prizes if a wearer of a button can find his duplicate.

Blitzkrieg events start at seven o'clolck at which hour the first parachute jumper will land on the ball diamond from a plane 3,000 feet in the air. Second and third jumps will follow every half hour, the last of which will be a twin jump. In the meantime airplanes will be giving a display of unbelievable stunts, climaxing in a dog fight.

Dancing starts at 7 o'clock in the field house with Wally Hahnfeldt's orchestra. Dance tickets for entire evening will be 35c each.

Boxing bouts upon an official ring will start at eight o'clock and continue until dark. Some of the talent will be imported but some of the local boys will have the opportunity to show what they can do.

The greatest fireworks display ever shown in this part of Cook county will start at 9:30 o'clock. Daylight fireworks will be shot off during the afternoon, but the crowning event of the entire day will be big display at night when $1,000 in cash will go up in smoke and noise. The spacious ball diamond provides ample space for spectators.

Arlington Heights police department will announce special parking restrictions for the day and extra traffic policemen will be on duty to direct motorists.

Park Ridge Woman Wins $25 For Naming Arlington Tavern

Mrs. R. F. Hug, 1513 Fairview ave., Park Ridge, was declared the winner of $25 for submitting the prize winning name for Eddie Hinsberger's new tavern in the Kelling building, Arlington Heights. Entries numbered over 500 and the three judges, representative Arlington business men, devoted over three hours Saturday evening studying the entries, finally picking "Eddie's Castle Bar."

Painters were busy Monday morning putting the signs in place. Mr. Hinsberger recently installed a seventy foot circular bar. Other improvements will await the passing of the races. The grand opening will not be held until September.

JOE BAUER, rising young vocalist, who will be featured during the dance program at Arlington Heights field house July 4th. In addition to ballads sung during the program, Bauer will lead the audience in singing three patriotic numbers.

Entries Must Be Made Early For Baby and Bicycle Parades

C. L. Griffith, parade chairman, announced this week that Mrs. Jos. Wisersky had accepted the chairmanship of the baby parade and Otto Wulbecker has charge of the bicycle section of the Fourth of July morning parade. It is important that entries be made as soon as possible with these two subchairmen.

Mrs. Wisersky's phone number is 604 and Mr. Wulbecker's is 785. Commenting on the baby parade, Mrs. Wisersky told the reporter, "all Arlington Heights babies are worthy of prizes, but the judging will be solely on the decorations of the carriage or other vehicle in which the baby rides. I hope to have a large parade, and I ask the cooperation of the mothers of Arlington Heights.. Entries should be made prior to July 1, if possible."

Mr. Wulbecker says that there are enough bicycles in Arlington Heights to have their own parade and he is hoping that there will be plenty of competition for the three prizes of $5, $3, and $2. Similar prizes will be given in the baby's parade.

Bud and Carl Will Air-Taxie To Cedar Rapids Next Week

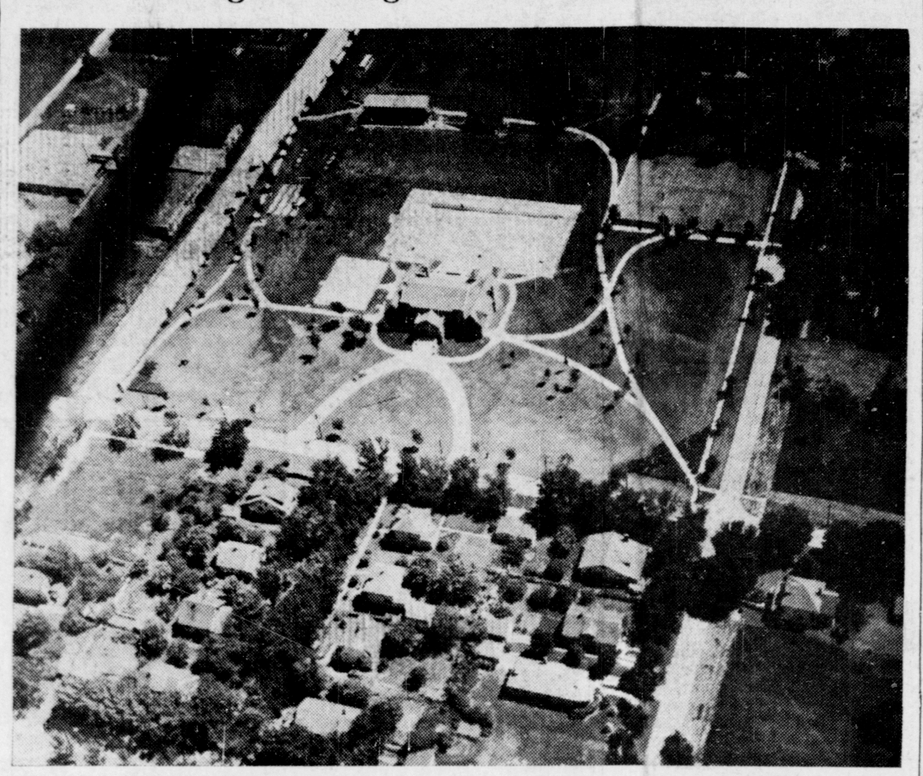

Bud Schneberger and Carl Behrens, young Arlington pilots, whose free hours the last few weeks have been dated for air joy rides about Arlington Heights, will fly to Cedar Rapids July 3 to attend a wedding of a Schneberger relative and later attend a formal party.

The two boys are getting in as many flying hours as possible and here's a tip: While they are not allowed to take passengers for hire, requests for free rides have become so numerous, they may have to confine their passenger flying to those who are willing to buy the gas.

Red Wings Face Former Senator Hurler

Arlington Red Wings will face Ed. Linke, a former pitching ace of the Washington Senators Sunday when Johnson Motors of Waukegan comes to Recreation park. The leading team in the "Illinois-Wisconsin Semipro League," the Kenosha, Wis., nine has been booked for the Fourth.

Free Swims Are Popular At Arlington

Free Preliminary Swim Instruction Welcomed By Many

John S. Hickey, superintendent of Arlington Heights recreation park, reports that the young people and many mothers have taken to free swims as ducks to water. Tuesday morning was the first free swim period of the season. There were 210 swimmers who entered the pool without fees, between 10:30 and 12:30 o'clock. Fourteen were given preliminary swim instruction.

The swimming pool regular hours start at one o'clock each day. The wading pool free to children not over seven years, opens at ten o'clock. Mothers can accompany children into the pool enclosure.

The weather man provided some rather poor weather for the opening of the pool last Saturday when only 62 swimmers appeared. There were over 200 on Sunday and the pool was closed Monday, due to the bad weather.

A refreshment concession has opened in the club room of the field house with free dancing until the closing of the pool each evening.

Mark Your Calendar For Aug. 4, Says VFW

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and their auxiliary are already making plans for their picnic and dance Sunday, August 4, to be held at Elk Grove Inn. This event is one of the highlights of the season's activities of the V. F. W. A full day of attractions from ten in the morning until midnight.

All-Star Game Set By Arlington Softball League

The Arlington Softball League will offer its fans a special treat Wednesday, July 3, in the form of an all-star game. This game will be played between two teams picked from those now playing in the league. One team will represent the teams from Arlington Heights while the other will be chosen from those teams from out of town which are in the league.

The league this year is quite well-balanced. Upsets of leading teams by those at the bottom of the standing have featured the play of the schedule so far. League teams from out of town have their share of the good players. They may, in fact, be entirely too tough for the all-stars which Arlington can muster.

The game next Wednesday will go nine innings in order to enable rival managers to give their full squads a chance to show their wares. Starting pitchers will be limited to five innings, if indeed they last that long against the array of sluggers which will face them. This should be one of the biggest features of the current softball season.

Arlington Police Question Boys Who Enter New Homes

Parents are asked to caution their boys not to enter homes under construction or those that are completed, awaiting sale. Chief Skoog questioned a number of Arlington Heights boys Monday regarding the entry of a new home on South Dunton the previous evening, when all doors were locked and keys taken.

The boys questioned were the same ones who have repeatedly been ordered out of such homes. Continued disregard of the property of others will mean arrests and publicity. The police ask the cooperation of parents in keeping the boys out of mischief and issues a warning that severe punishment will follow a repetition of such acts.

Arlington Heights Master Plumber Awarded Prize

Walter Woolmer, master plumber, Arlington Heights, was recently awarded sixth prize in a Gas Water Heater contest sponsored by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

Six hundred seventy-eight automatic gas water heaters were sold during the contest by master plumbers operating in the territory served with gas by the Public Service company; 357 of these were in the northern territory of the company, which includes Arlington Heights.

'Race Trackers' Independent; Horses Not

In his search for a "race tracker" story, for this issue, ye reporter listened to many tales of woe. He left the newspaper office with a consignment to find out:

If the supply of Arlington homes is sufficient to meet the demand and in what range are prices paid?

The reporter soon discovered that he could not find the answer because

There is no organized clearing house in Arlington Heights for the renting of homes.

Owners seek to rent their own homes at any old price.

The unwillingness of many stable owners to pay a proper price for the accommodations that are asked.

There were only four homes rented by regular Arlington renting agencies this year. One stable owner punched half the door bells in Scarsdale Sunday in an attempt to find a bargain. He was looking for a three bedroom, two bath abode and did not want to pay over $150.

Another called Arlington home owners robbers because a woman asked $85 for five week period. He claimed he could get a home three months in Florida for that price.

One woman, accompanied by a real estate man, visited every home on his list, making notes and then was able to direct her friends to the homes that might meet their individual requirements.

As a result of all this grief, both of the local renting agencies have vowed, "never again" and they will not solicit such business in the future.

Horses Not So Particular

Arlington Park has stable room for 1300 horses, but that is not sufficient to accommodate the horses that have arrived at the park. The "stableless" horses have had to turn to neighboring barns and farms for accommodations. They are not particular as to the number of bedrooms or baths and in some cases the owners and the horses share the same accommodations.

Ye reporter fell down on his assignment but the editor is printing his alibi.

Cigarets, Valued At $100, Taken From Truck At Arlington Park

Two cases of cigarets, valued at $100, were stolen from an Elgin Storage & Transfer Co. truck while the driver, John Jenny, was making a delivery at Arlington Park race track Saturday.

Jenny said that after making his delivery at the race track, he locked the end gate of his truck and then drove to Des Plaines where he was supposed to deliver the cigarets. It was not until then that he discovered his loss.

The cigarets are believed to have been taken off the truck while Jenny was delivering his merchandise at the race track. State police were notified to make an investigation.

Girl Meets Boy; Cars Go To Hospital

Mildred Porvich, 416 E. Hawthorn, Arlington Heights, was driving west on that street Tuesday evening and arrived at North Dunton, the same time that Geo. Milligan, in his Chevrolet coupe was on his way home. The Porvich car hit the Chevrolet. Aside from damaged cars, the only injury was sustained by Tom Fleming, who was treated by Dr. Best for cuts sustained.

Six Fire Departments Fight River Road Blaze

Police Radio Summons Help From Mt. Prospect

Six fire departments responded to calls for help in efforts to save the farm buildings and home of Wm. Rowoldt, River rd. and Bryn Mawr. ave., Saturday evening. Mt. Prospect, with its large farm truck can be especially credited with the protection given to the house, which was only partly damaged by fire. The trucks from Schiller Park, Franklin Park, Park Ridge, Des Plaines and Chicago, only carry small quantities of water. They made hurried trips to the nearest fire hydrants. The Mt. Prospect truck was the only one that is especially equipped to fight farm fires and saved the day. Only water available on the premises was a well.

Loss is estimated at $5,000. Insurance was with the Cook County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Mt. Prospect.

Radio Brings Help

The value of two way police radio was demonstrated when the firemen were unable to reach the phone in the house, when it was evident that a rural fire truck was needed. The call for help to Mt. Prospect rural department went over the air to the county station, which in turn, phoned Chief Bierman at Mt. Prospect. Only ten minutes elapsed from the time that the radio call was made and the department was at the fire.

Mr. Rowoldt s son, Walter, was the only one home at the time. Fire started at the southeast corner of the barn and was discovered by neighbors who phoned the Rowoldt home and the Schiller Park department.

A new Chevrolet car belonging to Walter was destroyed, but nearly all of the larger machinery was removed from the two barns and four sheds destroyed. Mr. Rowoldt arrived home shortly after the start of the fire.

Neighbors assisted in removal of household effects as well as farm tools.

The Rowoldt family greatly appreciate the assistance given to them, but Walter feels badly over the loss of a watch that he prized highly. If anyone has found it, he will greatly appreciate its return.

Following the Rowoldt fire, a number of truck growers met in Schiller Park and proposed the purchase of tank trailers to be stationed at strategic points. Kept full of water, they would be available at any moment and any truck could haul the tank to a fire.

That section is devoted exclusively to truck gardening and there are no milk cans to haul water. The night of the Rowoldt fire water was carried in common buckets long distances.

Public To Have Voice in Rural Zoning Plan

Call Hearings For Zoning Property Outside Village Limits

A zoning ordinance for territory outside the limits of cities and villages will be presented at public hearing throughout the county next week. The purpose of the zoning ordinance is to protect village property adjoining unincorporated areas outside the jurisdiction of the local zoning boards. The ordinance is expected to continue zoning laws beyond local boundaries to include the whole county.

The board of County Commissioners and the County Zoning Commission are holding a public hearing in each township to satisfy village boards and interested parties with the map and text as drawn up for the surrounding territory. The hearings on the proposed ordinance wil be held in the northwest part of the county as follows:

Barrington, Barrington village hall, July 3, 8 p. m.

Elk Grove, Mount Prospect village hall, July 2, 11 a. m.

Hanover, Bartlett village hall, July 3, 4 p. m.

Maine, Des Plaines city hall, July 2, 8 p. m.

Niles, Morton Grove village hall, July 1, 2 p. m.

Northfield, Glenview village hall, July 2, 4 p. m.

Palatine, Palatine village hall, July 3, 11 a. m.

Schaumburg, Schaumburg Center School, July 3, 2 p. m.

Wheeling, Arlington Heights village hall, July 2, 2 p. m.

The ordinance, consisting of text and a zoning map for each township, is on view at the county zoning bureau, Room 401, Burnham Building, 160 North La Salle St., Chicago. They may be inspected prior to the public hearings.

One purpose of county zoning is to protect the municipalities from incompatible development just outside their boundaries, and careful consideration has been given to harmonizing the county zoning with the adjacent municipal zoning.

Other objectives strongly in the minds of the Commission members have been to prevent the promiscuous scattering of business along the full length of the highways; to provide ample setbacks of both residence and business for the purpose of preserving the value of residential development on highway frontage and providing off-street parking for business and industrial uses; to obtain enough space between residential buildings to promote safety from spread of fire in areas where no fire departments exist; to promote health by requiring proper design and location of individual water supplies and sewage disposal; and in all cases to conserve the values of land thru out the county.

As drafted, the ordinance provides four residential districts, differing as to size of new lots for residences, namely, 10,000 square feet, 20,000 square feet (about one-half acre), 40,000 square feet (about one acre), and 5 acres; a farming district; two business districts, one without taverns and dance halls; and three industrial districts, light, heavy, and unrestricted. A special airport district also is set up.

Barber Shop Fire Caused By Backfire Of Hot Water Heater

Arlington Heights fire department snuffed a blaze in the basement of the barber shop at 10 West Campbell st. late Saturday afternoon that might have threatened the business block. The fire was believed to have been started when a coal fed hot water heater exploded, igniting mattress and bed clothing.

George Hohmann, owner of the barber shop formerly known as Prosser's barber shop, kept a regular check on the heater. The fire was not discovered until he went down stairs to stir the fire up, catching the blaze before it had gained too much headway.

Damages were estimated at $800 to the basement of the building including numerous articles of clothing belonging to Hohmann and his assistant, Reginald Rowbotham.

If the rainy weather will desist long enough the swimming pool at the Des Plaines Rand Park will be ready for opening about July 15, it was said Monday of this week.

The cement work which had to be done over has been completed but the point where the cement blocks join have to be sealed yet and the inside of the pool painted and this cannot be done during rainy weather. If the weather will clear up for a few days all this work will be completed so that it can be opened about the 15th.

Evangelical-Reformed Merger Completed

Historic Sessions Held At Lancaster, Pa., Mark Union

The merger of the Evangelical Synod of North America and the Reformed Church in the United States has been fully and completely consummated. The Certificate of Incorporation was presented to the Church on June 22 by Rev. Paul M. Schroeder, of Rochester,N. Y., special representative of the Synod, who was sent to Albany, New York, earlier in the week to take final legal steps that merged the two church bodies. There was much rejoicing among the 250 delegates when Dr. Schroeder handed over the certificate to Dr. Geo. W. Richards, Lancaster, Pa., who presided over the history-making session, because of his leadership in bringing about the merger. The union brings together 2,478 ministers and 2,873 churches with a membership of 600,000.

The General Synod, meeting at Lancaster, Pa., in the St. Paul's Reformed Church, June 19-26, was the fourth biennial conference since the Plan of Union was adopted in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1934. The Synod began with a public service in which more than 700 persons participated. At the opening service Dr. L. W. Goebel, Chicago, Ill., president of the Synod, preached the sermon in which he voiced a challenge and a hope to what he said was a "self-sufficient" world which "emphasizes death as its one word."

At the first general session held in the historic First Reformed Church, just across the street from the headquarters of the conference, Dr. L. W. Goebel re-emphasized the spiritual principles stated in his opening sermon, bringing them down to particulars of church-world relationships in the area of unemployment, war, peace, conscientious objectors, relation of church and state. His address on the state of the church focussed the attention of the delegates on vital issues demanding attention by the Church at large. The Church had glorified in which she feign would have pronounced a Christian civilization, but she soon discovered that it was a thinly-veiled paganism. The awesome day has come upon us in which the ancient civilization of Asia and the much-vaunted civilization of that continent whose area was coextensive with what was known as Christendom are threatened with destruction. We dare not hesitate to re-emphasize now what in times of peace we so bravely uttered. Never again will we as a church sanction war."

Big Crowd Attends Opening Of Race Track

Stars and Stripes Handicap Feature For July 4th

A gray day with spatters of rain and black scudding clouds that would have done credit to a November day failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the race fans Monday when over 12,000 turned out to the opening of Arlington Park's "30 golden days."

There is a tradition that "Arlington opens in the rain" and this year upheld the tradition.

But despite the weather the racing was formful and the big crowd had a fine time.

A long shot opened the season as has so often happened at Arlington and then a parade of favorites or near favorites made the "chalk players" happy.

The crowd was well pleased with the reception accorded them by the new management. They liked the improvements that have been made and compliments on the "New Arlington" could be heard on all sides.

With a return of more seasonable weather later in the week the opening week's attendance was held up in a fine manner and with close and formful racing keeping everyone on edge, it looks as if the new Arlington was off for a banner meeting.

The matron stakes at one mile will be the Saturday feature and has attracted a big field of the best horses in that class.

On July 4, the famous Stars and Stripes handicap will be the big attraction and a strong card of supporting races will make the holiday the big racing day thus far this year in this section of the country.

Last Sunday Arlington Park was host to the public in an "Open House" reception at which fifteen thousand people swarmed all over the grounds, inspecting the track, stands, paddock and stables and enjoying themselves to the fullest extent despite the threatening weather.

With Arlington Park off to a fine opening and with the management bending every effort to make the race fans comfortable and happy and with those same fans appreciating the attitude of the management and the fine racing planned for the next month, it appears that nothing can stop 1940 from being one of the most successful years in Arlington's history.

Time Getting Short For Boys To Enter Soap Box Derby

Arlington Heights Chevrolet, N. M. Lattof, proprietor, and Paddock Publications, are local sponsors for the boys of Arlington Heights, Palatine and other neighboring towns who desire to compete in the national soap box derby, which will be run at Des Plaines July 26.

There is still time for boys to enter the great derby which is being run in connection with the annual event being held by the Chicago Herald-American.

Besides the many prizes to be offered at Chicago by the Herald-American and Chevrolet dealers there, boys who qualify at Des Plaines, will be taken to Chicago to compete there regardless of whether or not they win here.

Of course the time is getting short for entries as boys will require some time to build a good car. The races here will be run on July 26 so any one wishing to enter should do so at once. There is no entry fee for the boy. All he need to do is to see Mr. Lattof at the Arlington Heights Chevrolet company on Evergreen st. and register.

St. James Festival, And Turkey Dinner Is Next Week

St. James church congregation is looking forward to their three day festival which will be given Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 5, 6, and 7 on the church grounds. The St. James festival has always been popular in Arlington Heights, and the turkey dinner served by the ladies of the church Sunday, July 7, is a special attraction that has brought many back to the festival year after year.

Present plans call for repairs in the church and rectory by proceeds of the celebration.

Father Stier has announced a change in the hour for masses effective this Sunday. They will be held at 6:30, 8:00, 9:30, and 11:00 a. m.

Winkelman Asks If Your Car Is Ready For July 4th Outing

Winkelman's have special equipment for testing and locating any troubles of any automobile, which once located, are more easily repaired. Lustreless Hair Is Danger Signal

By C. W. Lussman
Of Sieburg Pharmacy

Does your hair lack "body"? Does it refuse to take a permanent, string out the day after your wave is set, fall in lustreless locks?

Healthy hair is one of the most significant attributes of a healthy body. The reverse is equally true. There should be life and vitality to healthy hair, lights in it, all indications of vigor and beauty.

When your hair gets lank and loses its glossy sheen, do not expect the beauty parlor to offer more than temporary relief. See your doctor. There is probably a reason which can be corrected, restoring yourself to health and your hair to beauty.

Prescriptions should be referred to a good druggist.

Cut Noxious Weeds

(Official Notice)

According to "An Act Concerning Noxious Weeds," all property owners are required by law to destroy noxious weeds growing on their premises, before they reach the seed bearing stage. Full cooperation by every property owner and municipality with the local Thistle Commissioner, will be greatly appreciated.

As a land owner you are hereby notified that you are under a legal duty to destroy all such noxious weeds on the above described premises before seed bearing stage, in accordance with the provisions of Section 3 of the above mentioned act. The methods of treating and eradicating noxious weeds as recommended by the Department of Agriculture can be obtained from the undersigned.

Full cooperation from property owners will be necessary.

Yours truly,

Louis Clark,

Commissioner of Noxious Weeds

(6-28) Wheeling Township.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

(All communications addressed to the Voice of the People for publication must be signed by the name and address of the sender).

DEMAND FOR JUSTICE

Mr. Editor:

Sir: Land values of Cook county have shrunk to cause great loss for the owners caused by unjust tax impositions, and now comes the new quadrennial assessment to greatly increase the tax on these depreciated values, taxing all value out of land and building lots. This will drive many poor owners of property to poverty and to government relief. This does more harm to the poor citizens of Cook county than depressions and bank failures or Federal taxation.

It is said that a few selfish Chicago politicians (tricksters) that worm themselves into office have planned the ruination of outside towns for the benefit of the plutocrats of Chicago.

It is time for land owners to arouse and demand the right for a vote of the people to decide whether or not such unjust assessments shall prevail instead of that pitiful throng of poor men and women shall be compelled to spend money to go to Chicago and wait a long time on hard seats for a chance to get down on their knees to a hard heartless selfish "Board of Appeals" and a "one man assessor" who refuses to listen to a just presentation of facts.

The writer has been there to be insulted and to be informed on the start, that no changes would be made. His case was given no consideration whatever.

Have so-called Freemen in this Land of Liberty sunk so low that they dare not cheep when they should roar?

(Signed) Calvin Mitchell,
Arlington Heights, Ill.

Cold Milk Drinks Favored During Hot Summer Days

The way in which a homemaker does the everyday housework and the way she dresses make all the difference as to whether she is a well-poised, mature, graceful person or whether she is "40 and fat," said Miss Florence King, assistant professor of home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Many words have been said about diet, but the essential fact is that no homemaker needs to be fat if she eats sensibly for good health but avoids the rich foods. Exercise, likewise, does not need to become a burdensome set of exercises, but can be practiced throughout the day as the homemaker goes about her work.

"If a homemaker would study her habits of work and think about the muscles being used for each particular task and use them correctly, a great deal would be done to keep the muscles in good tone. This in turn would add poise and grace to her carriage," said Miss King. "For example, take the task of washing dishes three times a day. Usually the average housewife stands with her feet toeing out, the muscles of her back and abdomen well settled down and shoulders sagging. If she stands with her toes straight ahead, the weight of her body is properly distributed, the muscles of the back and abdomen held up and the shoulders thrown back and straight."

Thought, not money, makes a well-dressed woman, Miss King went on to say. To be well dressed it is necessary to know the proportions of one's figure, the relationship of length from shoulder to waist in relation to the length from waist to knee and so on. Unless a homemaker really knows the proportions of her figure, she has no idea what length skirt she should wear, or whether the built-out shoulders and full sleeves will be appropriate.

"We laugh at a little boy who puts on his father's derby hat or a little girl who dresses up in her mother's clothes, but these are no more ridiculous than the woman of 40 who has large legs wearing a skirt two inches too short or a petite type of woman wearing a large cart wheel hat because fashion dictates short skirts and large hats."

Carefully dressed homemakers also give particular attention to the fit of their undergarments, realizing that an attractive, appropriate dress might be spoiled in appearance by faulty undergarments.

Limestone Raises Incomes For 569 Henderson Farms

Five hundred sixty-nine Henderson county farmers whose incomes have been increased about $1,000,000 from spreading 90,000 tons of limestone on 31,193 acres can't be wrong about the value of lime to build up their soils and increase crop yields, according to Farm Adviser A. J. Rehling. Figured on the basis of results from use of limestone on Illinois soil experiment fields of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, each ton of limestone returns an average of $11 an acre, reports C. M. Linsley, assistant professor of soils extension.

Recent completion of a soil conservation survey in Henderson county shows that 36 county farmers have limed all their cropland, their farms varying from 40 to 477 acres. The survey covered 1,321 farmers and 130,374 acres.

One of the principal projects under way when the Henderson county farm bureau was organized was the testing of soil for acidity and the use of lime in growing better clovers and other legumes. This program has resulted in a steady use of limestone. By 1925, Henderson county farmers were using 21,000 of the 800,000 tons used in the entire state.

Limestone is now accepted by practically all farmers in the county as well as throughout the state as being essential to successful farming on acid soil. Many have been slow to lime because of lack of finances. The provisions of the 1940 AAA farm program, which allow payments for liming, have to a great extent overcome this finance problem.

Spreading of limestone is one of five practices being stressed in Illinois in 1940 to enable farmers to get more conservation of physical and human resources. The other practices are pasture improvement, contour farming, seeding of additional legumes and grasses and tree planting.

"BOUQUET OF SALADS" PLATE LUNCHEON

The day was hot—too hot, really, to go to a luncheon. But the invitation had been accepted. So in their coolest gowns the guests arrived. Presently they were ushered into a cool, partially darkened dining room—where each plate on the table looked like a lovely bouquet of flowers—as colorful as the low bowl of real garden flowers in the center of the table.

WHAT'S IN A BOUQUET?

Of course, the guests knew that they would not be expected to eat flowers. But what—just what were those bouquets? Investigation soon revealed that on each plate there were 5 lettuce cups—each cup holding a serving of a different kind of salad. In the center of the plate there were sprigs of crisp watercress and one dainty garden flower.

Closer examination showed how very clever the hostess had been in arranging a selection of salads that would really make a well-rounded meal. The salad nearest each guest was an appetizer salad—a slice of tomato with a whole shrimp a top it and a fluff of mayonnaise. Next to this was a generous serving of chicken salad—the main dish of the meal. The next lettuce cup held a green salad—asparagus tips—or it might have been a tossed garden salad to supply the vegetables for the meal. There was a sharp French dressing over these vegetables. Then came a "dessert" salad of fruits—pineapple sticks, strawberries, pitted cherries and strips of avocado with a sweet French dressing. The fifth lettuce cup held a serving of refreshing lemon sherbet.

THE BREAD ACCOMPANIMENT

The bread accompaniment with this salad luncheon was a tray of piping hot muffins—the tenderest, fluffiest muffins you ever put into your mouth. And there were cups of steaming coffee—because this hostess knew that an all-cold-meal was not advisable even on the hottest day. Dainty little butter cookies were passed later to eat with the sherbet.

Here is the recipe for the Sour Cream Muffins which were served with this salad lunch:

SOUR CREAM MUFFINS

1 egg
1 cup thick sour cream (25% butter fat)
1 tbsp. melted shortening
2 tbsp. sugar
1⅓ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder

Beat the egg until light. Blend in the cream, melted shortening and sugar. Mix well.

Sift the flour, salt, soda and baking powder together and add to the creamed mixture . . . stirring to completely blend the ingredients. Beat a few strokes.

Pour into 12 medium-sized well greased muffin pans—filling each pan ⅔ full. Bake immediately in a moderately hot oven, 400° F., for 20 to 25 minutes.

Agricultural Corporations.—In this country the corporation has become a standard form of organization for industry and business. Farming has been and still is largely an individual enterprise. Some farming operations are carried on by partnerships and corporations, but the acreage so handled is negligible. However, in the field of marketing, buying and educational assistance, farmers have made extensive use of the corporate form of organization. By legal definition a corporation is an artificial person created by law, endowed with the capacity of perpetual succession and consisting generally of many individuals. It affords farmers an opportunity to pool their efforts and deal with other individuals & corporations more effectively, at the same time keeping their private business interests separated from those of their organization.

Two kinds of corporations predominate in agriculture — the non-profit corporation, used generally for the organization of agricultural societies, farm and home bureaus, et cetera, and the agricultural cooperative association organized to engage in selling, buying and furnishing commercial services to farmers. Corporations of all kinds are subject to extensive legislative regulation and in Illinois there are laws outlining the organizational procedure and functions of these two general types of agricultural corporations. The law relative to non-profit organizations was enacted in 1872 and provides that three or more persons may associate themselves on a non-profit basis for any of a number of purposes, among them —"agricultural, horticultural, soil, crop, livestock, and poultry improvement."

The law relative to agricultural cooperative associations was enacted in 1923. According to the declaration of policy in the Act it was passed "—to promote — the intelligent and orderly marketing of farm products — as direct as can be efficiently done; to stabilize the marketing of agriculture products, and to provide for the organization and incorporation of agricultural cooperative associations and societies."

It is much more detailed than the law on non-profit corporations, owing to the fact that provision must be made for the issuance of stock, election of directors, execution of marketing contracts and a number of other business procedures. In many respects such associations resemble business corporations and in Illinois they are subject to the Business Corporation Act.

These incorporation acts are in Chapter 32 of the Illinois Revised Statutes, Sections 158-163 and 440-473.

Miss Mabel Garlisch Bride of Wallace Busse

Miss Mabel Garlisch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garlisch of Elk Grove, was married at seven o'clock on Saturday evening, June 22nd, in the Elk Grove Lutheran church, to Mr. Wallace Busse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Busse of Elk Grove.

The marriage was performed by Rev. Gehrs, before the altar which was banked with palms and decorated with red and white carnations. Soft organ music was played thru out the ceremony by Mr. Meeske.

The bride was gowned in white summer satin, and her veil and blusher were of net trimmed with lace. Her veil was held in place with a spray of orchids, and she carried gardenias.

Miss Marge Garlisch, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and wore a dress of white rayon marquisette, with red accessories, and her flowers were red carnations.

Miss Margaret Busse, sister of the groom, Miss Elvira Moehling, Mrs. Don Schriver and Miss Dorothy Heuer were bridesmaids and were gowned alike in dresses of white marquisette with red accessories and carried red and white carnations.

Carol Jean Busse and Carol Jean Oldenburg, small cousins of the groom, served as flower girls and attended by young Donald Garlisch, cousin of the bride, scattered petals of red and white carnations in the path of the bride as she passed down the aisle. The small girls wore long dresses of white net with large red bows in their hair. Donald wore a white suit with red tie and carnation boutonniere.

All members having June birthdays were welcomed and were presented with the usual remembrance.

The Worthy Matron invited the color bearer, Elmer W. Crane, to give a talk on the Flag and its significance. Brother Elmer chose for his theme the History of the Flag and the American Creed as promulgated by the Americanism committee of the American Legion. He also called attention to subversive activities now being practiced throughout the United States and to some of the methods being employed to eliminate these un-American activities.

After the meeting was closed tasty refreshments were served in the dining room by Sister Elizabeth Shad, chairman of the refreshment committee and the members of that committee.

Thursday evening, June 27, there will be initiation. It is hoped that as many of our members and Star friends as can will come out to enjoy the evening with us.

Young Howard Horcher, of Chicago, nephew of the bride, dressed all in white, carried the ring on a white satin pillow for the ring service.

The church was decorated with peonies and other summer flowers and candles lighted the altar, as the choir sang the marriage mass.

Following the wedding the guests enjoyed a wedding dinner, which was served at the home of the bride at 2:30 o'clock.

FIRE PREVENTION

July 4th Fires and Injuries

Approximately forty years ago the largest fire this community ever experienced occurred, and it was rumored that it started from a fire cracker. One of the pioneer citizens of this community was handicapped most of his life due to being crippled as a result of a 4th of July celebration.

A century and a half has passed since the war for American Independence. Of the heroes who fought in it 4044 never returned from the battlefield; 6004 returned permanently disabled. In the thirty years from 1900 to 1930, 4290 Americans—more than lost their lives in the Revolutionary War—lost their lives celebrating the victories of the original 4044. Those maimed, crippled and blinded by these observances aggregated 96,000. July 4th is the day on which we sacrifice human lives to our forefathers in orgies of fire and noise with no thoughts of American liberty nor public welfare reflected in them. They represent only unrestrained childish indulgence and stupid irresponsibility.

The purchase and use of fireworks, especially by children should not be indulged in. To safeguard children from fire and injury the year around, and then turn them loose for its reckless and unrestrained indulgence on July 4th is worse than folly; it is a crime.

The groom was attended by Vito Perrino as best man. Bill Noe and George were groomsmen. The groom and his attendants wore tuxedos.

The ushers at the church were Alfred Duever, Jr., and Ed. Semmerling.

George and Turk Surprise Hillbillies Down In Kentucky

Friends of George Volz know very well why George includes lifeguard tires in his car insurance, and it was one of those lifeguards that surprised a group of hillbillies down in Kentucky last week.

George, accompanied by "Turk" Jahn were returning home from Memphis one day last week when a lifeguard gave its usual warning that "hell was about to pop." It was a warning that George and Turk were wise to obey. They stopped the car and were looking at the tire surrounded by the group of hill men, when suddenly the tire did pop.

To repeat the exclamation of one of the Kentuckians, "Wall, what do you think of that, those northerners stop their car and wait for the tire to blow."

Bullet Lodged 23 Years

M. B. Smeaton, a farmer living near Darnell, in Natal, has had a bullet in his heart 23 years, but he enjoys good health. He was in the World war with the Second South African infantry and was wounded in July, 1916. The bullet entered the right side and lodged in the pericardium.

Golf Lesson No. 2—the Grip

Explained by Pat McDonald

by TOMMY KOUZMANOFF

"There are two styles of grips, overlapping and interlocking. I use, and personally recommend the former. In the overlappping finger grip the club is really held in the fingers instead of the palm of the hand. Take the club grip in left fingers, thumb on top, and slightly back so that the V formed by the thumb and the index finger points to the right shoulder. Now place the right hand so that the little finger overlaps the index finger of the left hand. The V formed by the thumb and index finger of the right hand also points to the right shoulder. Grip firmly with left hand and lightly with right. No space between fingers. There is a difference between firmness and stiffness in a grip. Do not stiffen wrists or arms, but preserve enough firmness to keep the club under control at all times."

That Pat McDonold is a most amiable sort of chap is proven in the fact that his professionalship at Rolling Green Country Club, on Rand rd. one mile east of Arlington Heights, is going into its eleventh season. As further proof of Pat's popularity June 22 was "Pat McDonald Day" at Rolling Green.

* * *

Mr. Daily Fee Golfer of this district is a most fortunate person indeed. He need look no further than his own "back yard" for a suitable golf course. Off hand we can think of Old Orchard, on Rand rd., one mile east of Arlington Heights, Arlington Country Club, Dundee rd., north of Arlington Heights, Bon-Air, near Wheeling, Mt. Prospect Country Club, in the heart of Mt. Prospect, Rob Roy, off Elmhurst rd. in Prospect Heights, White Pines in Bensenville, and Greenview, on Higgins rd. near River rd. All of these courses are well-kept, and certainly command the attention of the free lance golfer.

* * *

If you are the type of a golfist that would like to confine all of his playing to one course then it is a country club membership that you are seeking. Listed under private clubs with moderate yearly fees attached are Rolling Green in Arlington Heights, and Mohawk in Bensenville. There are others, but why drive further?

Merger Completed

The note sounded by Dr. Goebel was taken up again by the Commission on Christian Social Action. When the report on this Commission's work came before the General Synod, the delegates were conscious of the abnormal times in which we are living and of the suffering and misery caused by man's own selfishness. Resolutions commending to the attention of the pastors and officers of the Synod the importance of including in private and public prayers, petitions for the churches in every land and for the growth of the ecumenical spirit; to send a message to "our brethren in Christ in the nations now at war; to create an emergency committee to make special, intensive effort to raise not less than $100,000 to be used in relieving the misery and suffering of people in all countries; to petition the Congress of the United States to exempt from military training and from military service in time of war those members of this denomination who hold conscientious objection to participation in war.

Stirring dabates on all issues raise these resolutions to the level of a seriousness that was not evident on any of its other numerous reports on activities of the church.

The work of all boards were reviewed and instructed to procedure to enlarge the work as rapidly as funds are made available. The election of the personnel of all merged boards consumed much time, so that equal representation, geographical and according to the two branches, could be had. It was felt that at this final step in the transition of the merger, such a procedure would make for more effective continuation of the work.

One of the high spots of the entire Synod was the spiritual convocation when more than 7,000 persons witnessed a demonstration of denominational solidarity. Five hundred men and women, some of whom were robed in clerical and academic gowns, marched one mile from the conference church to the athletic field of one of the Franklin and Marshall Colleges, one of the many educational institutions of the church, where an improvised altar had been erected. Here they were joined by a choir of 500 men and women. An offering of more than $600 was received and will be used for the European war sufferers.

The sermon was preached by Dr. G. W. Grauer, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who declared that "when people say that what's wrong with the world is war and depression, they forget that war and depression are themselves the inevitable results of men's action in the past, and we are now reaping what we have sown."

The members elected to the executive committee of the Synod for the next four years are: Dr. L. W. Goebel, Chicago, Ill., President; Dr. Geo. W. Richards, Lancaster, Pa., 1st Vice-President; Hon. D. J. Snyder, Greensburg, Pa., 2nd Vice-President; Dr. William E. Lampe, Philadelphia, Pa., Secretary; Mr. F. A. Keck, St. Louis, Mo., Treasurer.

The General Council, which supervises the work during the biennium, is composed of the general officers and sixteen ministers and laymen representing certain geographical boundaries.

Churches of this vicinity which are affected by this merge are St. Paul's, Palatine; St. John's, Arlington Hts.; Christ Evangelical, Des Plaines; Immanuel Evangelical, Hanover; Friedens Church, Bensenville; Immanuel Evangelical, Addison Twp., Long Grove Evangelical, Plum Grove Evangelical.

World War Casualties

The World war cost the United States more than 50,000 men killed in action, 236,000 wounded, 57,000 dead of disease and 6,500 dead of other causes.

Thanks To Firemen And Neighbors

The quick response of the many fire companies who came to my farm last Saturday night is greatly appreciated by me. Every one of them worked hard to extinguish the fire and my house was saved. Many neighbors also were a great help and have my thanks as well as the fire companies of Schiller Park, Franklin Park, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Chicago and Mt. Prospect Rural.

Free Aerial Act Nightly At Des Plaines Legion Festival

N. A. Biever, chairman of the night attraction at the third annual Des Plaines Summer Festibal announces that he has closed the deal for this year's aerial act, which will be the free aerialacts presented by the "Three Milos" on and above the 125 foot ladder to be erected just west of the main entrance to the beautiful Rand Park on East Miner street, Des Plaines. For six nights beginning July 2 the 'Three Milos' will thrill the crowds with their two acts.

Mr. Biever claims that for sheer breath-taking, hair-raising, heart-gripping daring this acts is tops in its class.

The festival starts Tuesday, July 2, and continues through Sunday. A mass of prizes will be awarded. Further details will be found in the supplement of this paper.

15 Walther Leagues Of Northwest Zone To Picnic Sunday

The fifteen Walther Leagues of the Northwest Suburban Zone are sponsoring a picnic for all Lutherans in this vicinity at Ilgair Park on Sunday, June 30.

Many plans have been made to make the afternoon and evening a real picnic for the large number of people expected to attend. The committee has lined up all kinds of games to be played by little tots, older children, all the youth, mamas and papas, and grandmas and grandpas so all should really have a good time. A main feature will be the Choral Union concert under the direction of Mr. A. Sachtleben to be given at 4:00 in the open air.

Everyone knows that Ilgair Park is the park with the replica of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, located at 6200 West Touhy ave., 7200 north. The park itself is truly beautiful for it is thickly wooded and has many inviting paths to be explored. There is a large clearing where the games will be played; also a large section where the concert will be given. This part has a seating capacity of many hundreds and has fine acoustics. For those who don't care to play the games, there is a swimming pool, baseball diamond, horses for riding, paths to be hiked, and nice soft ground for those who just want to sit and visit. The tour through the Leaning Tower will be of interest to all present.

Park regulations call for an admission price of twenty-five cents per person, but there is not a parking charge. Basket lunches will be the order of the day which will be eaten at the many tables provided. There will be, however, sandwiches, beverages, and refreshments on sale at the park.

The Leagues making up the Northwest Suburban Zone are those of the Lutheran churches in Arlington Heights, Barrington, Bensenville, Higgins-Canfield, Des Plaines, Elmwood Park, Itasca, Niles, Palatine, Park Ridge—St. Andrews and Redeemer, River Grove, and Roselle, Schaumburg and Norwood Park.

A large turn-out is expected, and even if the weather is threatening, come, for there is a big shelter where we will play games and have a lot of fun until the shower is over.

A lot of news from Bensenville this week. Thanks, Ruby. Last Sunday, the 23rd, the Leaguers went to the Indiana Sand Dunes for the day. A special morning service was held at 7:30 a. m. and then they left for a grand day at the Dunes. Certainly hope it didn't rain there as it did here all morning and around noon. The afternoon was grand, though.

We extend our congratulations to Miss Leola Rittmueller and Wm. Becker on their recent engagement. Also to Helen Milas and Wilma Weinrich, also of Bensenville, who were graduated from high school earlier this month. Wilma was named on the Honor Society in the beginning of the year.

A letter from Mildred Zimmer of Higgins-Canfield tells us that the roller-skating club we spoke of several months ago is really a club although it still isn't very large. On June 13 the club went to Arcadia Gardens for an evening of fun, and on June 23 they were skating at Riverview rink. The club has its emblems, too, and really have big hopes for the fall.

Their baseball team is getting new jerseys so they are hoping for a good baseball season.

The entire zone is sorry to say "goodbye" to Pauline Gehrs of Arlington Heights who is being transferred to Milwaukee for her new position. A large number of her friends and fellow Walther Leaguers went to her home Sunday, June 23, to say farewell and wish her God's richest blessings on her new work. Pauline has been a member of the Arlington Heights League for a good many years and was also active in the Zone activities, having served very efficiently this past year as recreation chairman. Her parents, Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Gehrs of Elk Grove will drive her to Milwaukee June 30. May we also add our prayer for blessings to you?

Remember the Lutheran picnic at Ilgair Park on Sunday, June 30. Everything points to a large crowd all enjoying themselves playing or-

Nation's Editors Advised It Takes Time To 'Make Ready' for Mass Production

Assurance was given to 300 editors and publishers of the National Editorial Association at a dinner last week at the New York World's Fair that American industry stood ready to cope with all problems of the moment and retained undiminished confidence in the future progress and bright future of the nation.

This message of hope was presented on the opening day of the association's convention week in New York by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors, and Charles F. Kettering, Vice-President in charge of research.

Discussing the nation's defense program, both Mr. Sloan and Mr. Kettering cautioned the American people not to expect the country's industrial plant to produce immediate miracles. They pointed out that in gearing mass production to the needs of national defense the element of time was of vital consideration and that large-scale production of war implements should not be looked for overnight.

Pointing out that mass production was the one phase of American industry that was most misunderstood, Mr. Kettering likened it to the time spent in "make ready" in publishing a newspaper and added:

"All we do in the automobile industry is publish autos instead of books or papers."

He warned that it was as impossible to change the design of a machine once a mass production program had been embarked on as it was to change a word in a newspaper after the presses were all ready to run.

"The trouble is people do not understand that," he continued, "and you start to make a new engine or airplane or automobile and a fellow says, 'I would like to change a curve in the top back here,' and you start back where you started from.

"So if we are ever going to get mass production ideas in national defense, we have to decide what we want to make. Then let us have the 'make ready,' which in this particular case is about nine months to a year, and then let us stay put."

Mr. Sloan declared that the great difficulty was not the "potentiality of American industry to discharge whatever may be asked of it with regard to producing material for adequate national defense," but rather "the essential time necessary to get ready."

"It can all be done," he continued, "but it takes time, and there is no use expecting impossibilities because we will only be disappointed."

"We have got excesses of men, money and materials. The only thing that means is that we haven't got any projects. We are one lap late, and everybody thinks we are ahead. In other words, we have got to broaden this industrial base of ours so that we supply new jobs, new projects, to take up these excesses of men, money and materials."

The reason more is not being accomplished in this direction, Mr. Kettering said, is "because it is the most difficult thing in the world to get a new thing started." He pointed to the cool reception accorded the Wright brothers' historic flight to prove this point, and added:

"Today that very simple thing of only 36 years ago is one of the determining factors in this great political European situation.

He urged his audience to stop gazing into the past at the "good old days" and to stop backing into the future, because "that is the reason we get so many surprises." He declared that "we should face the future and try to make the best out of it that we can because you are going to spend all the rest of your lives in the future."

July 4th Dead More Than In War Of 1775-'82

This year, more than ever before, Americans would do well to celebrate their country's birthday quietly and thoughtfully, in the opinion of C. M. Seagraves, director of safety for the Illinois Agricultural Association.

"This country has outgrown the rattle-box-stage—or should have," Seagraves says. "Europe is in chaos. Systems of government comparable to our own are in dire straits. It would seem that the Fourth of July, in view of these facts, might very well become a time for quiet and thoughtful contemplation or what we in this country have, what we want, and how we intend to keep it."

In the past, Seagraves points out, Americans have shown a "raucous juvenility" on the Fourth of July through the medium of fireworks, careless driving on the highways and a general epidemic of costly incompetence. Last July, for instance, accidents cost the U. S. 8800 citizens. Another 800,000 persons were injured, some permanently. Every hour during the month people finished living because of some kind of a mishap, the vast majority of which were easily avoidable.

"The Revolutionary War, which the Fourth of July commemorates, was child's play in comparison to the present-day July accident record," Seagraves declares. "Every 12 days in the average July, accidents claim as many Americans as lost their lives during the entire period of our war for freedom."

To stop such loss of man-power, the IAA safety department makes these suggestions:

1. Plan to spend more time in activities other than driving a car. Week-end and holiday traffic conditions are such that by no stretch of the imagination can driving be called a pleasure during such periods.

2. Fireworks, like firearms, should be used only by experts. Children by disposition and inexperience, are certainly not qualified to play with fire, much less explosives.

3. Swimming should be confined to places where there are trained attendants. Help in cases of drowning must be both immediate and expert.

"Rather than spend time in the criticism of fellow men and their roles of destruction," the safety department declares, "we might better use this energy in self-inspection; after all, we are neither attacking nor defending. We just play—and kill.

Spencer Tracy Plays Doctor, And Hedy La Marr Society Girl in Feature Show

Spencer Tracy, fresh from his triumph in "Stanley and Livingstone," and Hedy Lamarr, Number One Glamour Girl of the screen, are the attraction coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the Palatine Theatre in "I Take This Woman," a romance of New York, which presents the European charmer in her first modern American picture.

It provides Tracy with the first romantic lover rôle he has ever played on the screen as the faithful scientist, Karl Decker, at whose side Miss Lamarr, as a society butterfly with a blasted romance, finds ultimate happiness and a destiny.

Co-featured with "I Take This Woman" is Jane Withers in "High School," her newest 20th Century-Fox starring picture, and this 'teen-age Jane promises new delights for local fans.

She's quite a "young lady" now, concerned with dates and party dresses, and there's many a heart-throb and thrill in her experience as a "frosh."

Joe Brown, Jr., a freckle-faced, carrot-topped lad, who is no relation to the star of that name, plays the school football star who develops a terrific crush on Jane, while others featured are Lloyd Corrigan, Claire Du Brey, Lynne Roberts, Paul Harvey, Cliff Edwards, Lillian Porter and John Kellogg.

SPENCER TRACY AND HEDY LA MARR appear in "I Take This Woman" with the Jane Withers picture, "High School" at the Palatine Theater, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

'Abe Lincoln In Illinois' Comes Highly Recommended To Catlow Screen, Sun-Mon

Very little painted scenery was actually used during the filming of "King of the Lumberjacks," since the film starring John Payne and Gloria Dickson utilized the beauty and rugged grandeur of the north woods. It is reported that the lumbering scenes are among the best of their type ever viewed on the screen. "King of the Lumberjacks" will be the feature attraction at the Catlow Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Many historical incidents which greatly influenced the subsequent course of events in America flicker across the screen in RKO Radio's dramatic picturization of Robert E. Sherwood's Pulitzer Prize Play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," coming to the Catlow Theatre Sun. and Monday.

The story, which is laid between 1850 and 1861, embraces such momentuous episodes as the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates, the Black Hawk War, the discovery of gold in California, the Harpers' Ferry incident and the secession of South Carolina from the Union.

Raymond Massey, who portrayed the title role in the stage hit, is again seen as Lincoln and is surrounded with sixty outstanding players of stage and screen in this Max Gordon production, which John Cromwell directed.

"Edison, the Man," which comes to the Catlow Theatre on Wednesday for three days, is the fourth picture in which Spencer Tracy has starred in a real-life role. His first was as Father Edward J. Flanagan in "Boys' Town," and this was followed by the roles of Henry M. Stanley in "Stanley and Livingstone" and Major Robert Rogers in "Northwest Passage." In none of them did the star use make-up until, for the final work on "Edison, the Man," he put on white wig and facial make-up to play the inventor at the age of eighty-two.

New Deanna Durbin Film At Des Plaines Sunday

Heading the double feature attraction opening Sunday at the Des Plaines Theatre for a four day run is the newest Deanna Durbin singing hit, "It's A Date." Prominent in the supporting cast of this, the seventh consecutive successful screen appearance of lovely Deanna, are Kay Francis and Walter Pidgeon. On the same program, co-starred for the first time, are the country's leading dancing stars, Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell in "Broadway Melody of 1940."

Now showing, and finishing its three day run on Saturday night are "The Farmer's Daughter" and "Free, Blonde and 21." Martha Raye and Charlie Ruggles are starred in "The Farmer's Daughter" and Lynn Bari and Mary Beth Hughes are prominent in the cast of the latter picture. The latest European war scenes as seen through the eyes of Paramount News completes the current Des Plaines program.

It Happened Here

The most patently harried and vocally protesting among householders is the robin, driven by the insatiable demands of family cares; he has no time to loaf and invite his soul or to enjoy the summer pageant. When he sings, he does it as tho on a wager and with the breathless, repetitious haste of a Dr. I. Q. program with only thirty minutes grace before time is called on him; when he digs for worms, he is the day laborer on the railroad and fairly spits on his hands before beginning to pull; and when he bathes, he overflows the bird bath, splashing and dashing fit to astonish even the starlings and flies off leaving a mess to suggest wash day at Mrs. McGillicuddy's; in spite of these exertions he is always the first one up—say, about three a. m., shouting to Bob, Rob, Reddy and Robin, Jr., to hush their yawping. Cardinal Wolsey comes daily to the feeding station or to take the air in his garden; he looks very Shakespearian as he strolls about, hands folded behind him, while he cogitates king-making or a bit of verse or a round Latin polemic; he has the leisured air of a gaitered prolate and when he strolls down the flower border in the early morning with his lady, enjoying his iris and roses, and the sunlight, dappling through the twinkling poplar leaves to spotlight the lemon lilies, it is no trick of the imagination to see a Cathedral close and the choice vine of Southern France espaliered against the rough girth of the big tree. The gale last evening snapped the top from a large shade tree up the street and the crash roused our Mr. Dickson to action; the Fire Dept. arrived in the rain, arrived also small boys, curious neighbors and a few cars, all congregating under the dripping trees; red lights were reflected from the wet pavements, the crowd milled about like characters in an operetta and the glistening, rubber coated men wielded a shiny ax under an effective spotlight. "Well, this is a good place to meet all your neighbors," said Mr. D. to Mr. B. and everything passed off as pleasantly social as a Town Meeting.

THIS WEEK in WHEELING

LUCILE SCHNEIDER, Editor Phone 40

Plans are well under way for the annual Wheeling day celebration which will be held on Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21. The Volunteer Fire Department and the Chamber of Commerce will be the joint sponsors as formerly. There are to be four grand prizes, the first, a Mercury two door automobile; second a chrome dinette set; third, an electric roaster and fourth, a portable radio. A variety of attractions will be offered for entertainment both days.

The Mother's Study club held their annual picnic last week on Wednesday afternoon on the former Childerley grounds. Eleven mothers and seventeen children enjoyed the outing. Two former members of the club, Mrs. Ragusin and Mrs. Celarier, were out-of-town guests at the picnic.

Twenty-five members and friends of the Presbyterian Young People's club enjoyed a weenie roast at the Forest Preserve shelter house last Friday evening.

The Ladies' "500" club held their final meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Edw. Bucher, at Cary, on Tuesday, the 18th. The meeting was a combination picnic and card party. The ladies left for Cary early in the afternoon, taking a pot luck supper with them. Before supper they enjoyed a tour through the fur farm where the Buchers are employed. The evening was spent in playing cards.

Mrs. Schuler, of Welcome, Minnesota, is visiting here with her daughter, Mrs. R. Lesch.

Mrs. Minnie Schmidt and children, Ray and Betty, of Summitt, Illinois, were week-end guests at the R. Utpadel home.

Betty Frank celebrated her twelfth birthday with the help of some of her friends on Wednesday afternoon, June 19.

A. Miller and W. Schwall reported a good catch of bass, blue gills and croppies on their fishing trip to northern Wisconsin last week. They brought about 50 pounds home to confirm the report. A severe storm had swept the area a few days before, which the boys are sure cut down their catch considerably. Their only complaint was that a two and a half day fishing trip was much too short, but yet they had a lot of fun.

Mrs. Louis Wittbold of Chicago has been visiting at the Periolat home.

This week Messrs. John Wick and Ray Lesch motored to Eagle River, Wis., for a few days of fishing.

Mrs. Ella Mick, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brownell and daughter, Katherine of Lowell, Indiana, visited at the Schminke home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt of Wilmette, were Wheeling callers on Sunday.

A group of fifty relatives gathered at the Roy Person home last Sunday afternoon in honor of Mr. Person's mother, Mrs. J. C. Lourahng of Chicago, who celebrated her eightieth birthday on that day. Family ties were renewed as they visited and played games. A bounteous ham supper was served and the reunion carried through the evening.

Mow Weeds Now For Best Results

"Frequently it happens that roadsides, subdivisions, fence rows and pastures are not mowed to kill weeds until sometime in July or August after practically all the weeds have gone to seed," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes.

"About the only benefit we get from mowing weeds in July or August is to knock down the stalks and make things look a little bit better. So far as killing weeds they might as well not be mowed at that time. Now, or even a little earlier, is the most effective time for mowing weeds.

"A weed is very easily killed if cut just before or about the time it is beginning to blossom. It seems the plant throws practically all of its strength into the roots and the blossoms and seed will form and mature very rapidly. If the weed is cut off the seeds do not have opportunity to mature and at the same time a very good job of killing is secured by the mowing. Therefore, it will pay us at all times to watch and when the first blossoms begin to appear in weeds to begin our weed killing campaign.

"Unfortunately this is a bad time of the year because weeds will grow in the fields, crops must be cultivated, harvesting of early vegetable crops starts and the later plantings come at the same time. Weed killing comes at the peak of our rush season and too often we kill weeds in our cultivated crops and neglect other areas that are of secondary importance to protect growing crops.

"If it is at all possible this is the time of year when roads and fence rows should be mowed. Quite frequently our fence rows are crowded with crops coming up to the fence rows and a mowing machine cannot be put into the field and this work has to be done by hand. This is one reason why fence rows are not mowed with a mowing machine. Most field crops, as a rule, do not produce a great deal next to a fence row, so these rows might as well be left wide enough so a double swath can be run down between the rows and the weeds mowed in this way with very little expense.

"For the dairymen of Cook county mowing weeds in the pasture is probably one of the most effective means of getting weeds out of the way so blue grass can come up instead. Many of our pastures have about 30% of the space taken by weeds. If a mower is run over the pasture about this time and possibly a little later on in about two years' time most of our pasture weeds will have disappeared. Fence rows and subdivisions should be clipped at this time or a little earlier rather than later on.

"After the oats crop is taken off we usually see a very heavy growth of ragweeds. Sometimes red clover comes to maturity the first year and produces a heavy crop of blossoms and seed. Usually such clover has a difficult time getting through the winter and it frequently freezes out. If at the time ragweeds appear in abundance in clover stubble they can be mowed holding the sickle bar rather high and in this way the ragweeds will be killed and the clover prevented from producing blossoms. Usually the clover will go ahead and make vegetative growth in the fall to stalk the roots so they can go through the winter and a good crop come on the next year. This is not true of alfalfa. Alfalfa that has a growth of weeds in it that is clipped back will usually kill or stunt the alfalfa crop so it will not recover."

Young Couples Given Pre-marital Training

Of all human relationships, none is more enduring or satisfying than marriage. And now more than ever before, young people about to tie the marital knot, want to be fully prepared for this bold new adventure in life.

Writing in the July issue of Cosmopolitan, Ernest R. Groves says that although marriage is a difficult subject to discuss, there are certain essential questions that prospective couples want to know. The girl may ask, "Am I too young to marry?" Or possibly, "How can we manage the long waiting period before my fiance gets a start in business?" On the other hand the boy will query, "What is a good income for marriage?"

These and questions of a moral nature should be hashed out before the marriage takes place, Mr. Groves believes, and today provisions are being made for just this sort of guidance. Courses are now being given in college, Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A. and church groups are also furnishing this necessary information so that today's young people will have the greatest chances of achieving success in marriage.

Stress Curing Hay Thoroughly Before Storage

Making hay while the sun shines may be a worn-out expression, but it assumes new weight as Illinois farmers take stock of the barns that burn yearly as a result of spontaneous combustion—resulting when a mow full of damp hay becomes too warm. Naturally, proper curing before storing is the best solution.

If damp hay is to be stored, it's a pretty good idea to load it in racks for several days under an inexpensive shelter, advises R. H. Reed, of the agricultural engineering department, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Another method is to spread the wet hay in a thin layer over the entire mow. Sometimes hay is made into grass silage to prevent spontaneous combustion, but this isn't always possible.

If newly cut hay already in the barn has reached the danger point in heating, Reed advises closing all openings to the mow to cut down air movement. All animals and machinery should be removed.

Still another method is to soak the entire pile of hay thoroughly with water and then remove it to an open field for redrying, for feed or for fertilizer.

Salt is sometimes used as a preventive, but if enough is used to prevent heating, it will ruin the hay for feeding.

If no fire has resulted two weeks after the hay is put in the mow, there is little cause for alarm. It's likely the danger point is past.

Temperature of the hay may be measured by means of a homemade probe. A glass thermometer may be inserted in a groove cut in one side near one end of a sharpened wooden rod. The thermometer is held in place by some electrician's tape. The probe is pushed down into the hay for awhile before a reading is made. "If the temperature is near the boiling point of water, the mow should be closed as tightly as possible and all animals and machinery moved to other buildings," Reed advised.

Homemaker Can Avoid the Fat But Forty Appearance

Although appetites may fail during hot weather, the desire for cold drinks increases. Homemakers of Cook county can quench the family's thirst and at the same time serve nourishing food by providing the ingredients for many homemade milk drinks, suggests C. A. Hughes, Farm Adviser.

Suggestions from Miss Mildred Chapin, instructor in home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, include fruit milk drinks, chocolate milk, buttermilk and tomato juice drink, and eggnogs.

Chocolate Milk

The chocolate syrup can be made in large quantities and stored for some time in the refrigerator. A tablespoon or two of the syrup mixed very quickly with a glass of cold milk provides a welcome drink. Adding a drop or two of peppermint extract varies the flavor.

Fruit Drinks

Raspberry, grape, blackberry, pineapple and cherry are fruits which combine readily with milk to make delicious fruit drinks. Strawberry syllabub is the inviting name given to a milk and strawberry drink. It is made with 3/4 cup of rich milk and 3 tablespoons of sweetened strawberry juice. The mixture is poured over finely crushed ice and shaken well before serving.

Ever-Popular Eggnog

Eggnogs make a meal in themselves, says Miss Chapin. The usual recipe calls for one egg, one to two teaspoons of sugar or honey, a little nutmeg and vanilla. The mixture is beaten into a cup of well-chilled milk. Because melting ice tends to make a milk drink rather watery, it is better to use chilled ingredients and keep the beverage colder until serving.

Buttermilk, because of its flavor and also because its caloric value is not as high as that of sweetened whole milk drinks, proves popular with many people. An interesting variation to the regulation drink is to add ¼ cup of tomato juice and a few grains of salt to ¾ cup of buttermilk.

Retailers Up Milk Sales In June Campaign

More dairy products will be sold in observance of June Dairy Month this year than a year ago because a greater number of retailers are promoting the campaign, according to information received by the Cook County Farm Bureau from Wilfred Shaw, director of milk marketing with the Illinois Agricultural Association.

In June Dairy Month last year sales by chain stores increased 31 per cent in cheese, 35 per cent in cream, 14 per cent in milk, 11 per cent in butter and 12 per cent in ice cream as compared to June of 1938.

Favorable pasture conditions coupled with cool weather, are boosting milk production throughout the United States in June. Increased sales are expected to offset the increase. Retailers throughout the nation are cooperating with producers for greater consumption of the lacteal fluid through advertising, publicity and sales promotion in connection with June Dairy Month.

Typical of celebrations held in major cities throughout the country was the one staged by dairy interests of Champaign-Urbana on the University of Illinois campus, June 6. More than 2,000 townsfolk turned out to see the University's prize winning cattle and a featured milking contest between the Mayors of the two cities. Similar dairy days are planned for major Illinois cities during the month.

No Large Advance In Corn Price Is Predicted In 1940

Good crop prospects combined with the largest corn carryover on record will prevent any large advance in corn prices in 1940, predicts L. J. Norton, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

A highly desirable long-run marketing policy is to keep every legitimate user of corn fully supplied with enough corn to meet his demands, whether or not this policy pays the individual farmer the highest price in the short run, Norton recommended.

"If this huge corn supply—estimated carryover is 600 to 650 million bushels, in addition to this year's crop—were in the hands of one seller, he would likely keep the market supplied with corn so as not to retard consumption under present conditions. However, since ownership of the corn is widely scattered, each farmer will strive to sell his corn on the best market.

"The corn loan, which is available to cooperators in the AAA conservation program, has permitted many farmers to benefit from the advance in the corn price from 45 cents last fall to about 60 cents a bushel at the present time. This advance in price, which came earlier than usual over a period of years, will likely tend to limit the usual summer price advance. The corn loan does not use up the corn, but merely transfers ownership to the government when the farmer defaults on the loan."

Although the European war has apparently increased the price of corn along with prices of other staple products, this improvement has not been caused by increased sales of American corn to foreign countries, Norton explained.

The recent closing of the grain-consuming markets from Belgium to Norway, as a result of their occupation by Germany, will restrict further the sales overseas of grain of all kinds.

Moreover, Argentina harvested a large crop of corn in the spring of 1940, and without a government subsidy the United States could not be exporting corn now. The recent subsidized sale of 25 million bushels of corn to England will come from the government or loan stocks. Government corn is also being sold to the Pacific Coast to check imports from Argentina. Although such sales get rid of the corn they will not have the beneficial effect on the price that they would if exporters had come to this country to buy the corn.

Furthermore, hog prices are low and feeding margins on cattle appear small in view of the high price of feeders. Norton emphasizes to corn farmers that about 90 per cent of their corn is used as feed and that livestock profits affect the amounts of feed used.

The availability of abundant and high-quality pastures, together with prospects for good oat crop, also tend to retard corn consumption.

'Take Off' Instead Of 'Forward March' At Randolph Field

Early morning scene at Randolph Field, Texas, the "West Point of the Air," as the 500 Flying Cadets, soon to be full-fledged military pilots in the Army Air Corps, march to their planes for the daily flying routine. Half of these future pilots are scheduled to complete their second phase of training at Randolph Field this month. Ahead of them lies a final ten weeks course of advanced flying at Kelly Field before they are awarded their wings. Two more training centers, comprising both basic and advanced flight training, soon will be opened to aid in the training of 7000 pilots annually, the Air Corps' present expansion plan.

He Remembers A Girl In An Orchard

By Martha Banning Thomas

(Reprinted from Good Housekeeping Magazine)

How could a heart forget
Her lovely, rounded throat?
The hollow at the base
Was deep enough to float
And apple seed, perhaps,
If tears were nicely shed
To brim that shadowed cup
Beneath her tilted head.
She stood behind a gate,
And leaves fell on her hair;
And though he said no word,
He'll always see her there.

Profitable Ring Career

The Ring Magazine says that Joe Louis has collected $1,551,332 for his professional fights.

Honestly, He Was This Big!

With the opening of fishing seasons throughout the country, disciples of Izaak Walton are brushing up their acquaintance with lake and stream. Although the motor car and ever-expanding highways have made hardly a stream safe from the ardent fishing fan, the wary trout is still a match for all but the expert angler. Here Ralph Harris, who has driven his 1940 Chevrolet to the water's edge, is returning from a jaunt upstream to tell Evelyn Clark about the perennial "big one that got away."

Young Men Are Wanted For Air Corps

Many opportunities exist within the U. S. Army Air Corps for eligible young men of the nation due to the vacancies created by the Air Corps Expansion Program, which increases the enlisted strength to 45,000 men. The Chanute Field Branch of the Air Corps Technical School at Rantoul, Illinois, offers the chance for young men to acquire an education—an education on a par with that of any aeronautical institute of the nation—without cost to themselves or their families.

During the next two years, 17,882 men will have the chance to learn a highly specialized technical trade. The opportunities that now await qualified and ambitious young men may best be realized by summing up the total number of graduates from each course.

Airplane mechanics, 6,980; radio repairers-operators, 2,934; Aircraft machinists, 323; aircraft welders, 271; aircraft metal workers, 590; parachute riggers, 414; carburetor specialists, 240; instrument specialists, 616; electrical specialists, 498; propeller specialists, 336; link-trainer specialists, 96; clerical, 2,400; aircraft armorers, 1,584, photography, 600; total, 17,882.

These courses are all given at the Chanute Field Branch of the Air Corps Technical School, with the exception of the last three which are given at the Lowry Field Branch (Denver, Colorado). Persons from all Air Corps Fields are sent at the government's expense to take these courses which range from 16 to 24 weeks duration.
